

ZWINKELMAN

Music:

Zwinkelman sounds like a distant summer storm on a warm summer evening. Rich acoustic instrumentals, direct sound, and open tunings are combined to create an intimate atmosphere. polyrhythms, compound meters and scattered dissonances are all interspersed to form a contrasted, yet harmonious experience. This quiet voice of progression was laid down by the two guitar players, Josip Pavlov and Dominik Lutter, in Munich back in 2015. With only their two acoustic guitars, they shy away from the bombastic and artificial production that permeates modern rock music, but the effect is a voice stronger than any “wall of sound” or “noise fountain” could ever be.
